7. NOMINATION OF BENEFICIARIES

The Trustees of the Fund have a duty in terms of the Pension Funds Act to distribute the benefit arising upon your death to your dependants and nominees. The Act requires the Trustees to trace these dependants and beneficiaries and to distribute the benefit to them after consideration of their level of dependence on you at the time of your death.

Therefore, a fully completed form which lists all your dependants will ensure that the Trustees are able to identify your dependants and beneficiary nominees without delay and to have knowledge of your personal wishes with regards to the allocation of the benefit. This will enable the Trustees to finalise the distribution and effect payment to beneficiaries promptly.

What happens if you don't complete the Form fully with the latest information?

The Trustees will then have to trace your dependants which could become a lengthy and costly exercise and possibly reduce the benefit payable to your dependants due to the costs involved in tracing and verifying your dependants. It is possible that this delay could leave your dependants destitute.

Who are your dependants?

Your spouse, children (including an adopted child and a child born out of wedlock) and any other person who was financially dependent on you at the date of your death or who would have become financially dependent on you. You may nominate such dependants as your beneficiaries. Your nomination does not guarantee that your beneficiaries will receive any death benefits from the Fund

The beneficiaries can be nominated in the application form, or members can write to the Trustees at any time to change their nomination of beneficiaries. The beneficiary nomination needs to be delivered to the Fund Trustees while the members is still alive and the Fund is not obliged to accept a beneficiary nomination if it is delivered to the Fund after your death.

If you are married in Community of Property, written consent is needed from your spouse to nominate a beneficiary other than your spouse. If you do not obtain your spouse's written consent, they may be entitled to claim a share from your joint estate if divided.

The Trustees are required by legislation to exercise their discretion in allocating any benefits to dependants and beneficiaries after the death of a member.

8. WITHDRAWAL OF BENEFITS

• Withdrawal Before Retirement

You may make a withdrawal benefit from the Fund if you are no longer making contributions, only under the following circumstances:

- The member emigrates from South Africa with the approval and recognition of the South African Reserve Bank
- Divorce
- Disability
- Transfer

• The administrative process

If your withdrawal is approved, the Fund will:

- Switch the investment portfolio into cash
- Apply for a tax directive from South African Reserve Services, if applicable
- Implement the instructions of the tax directive
- Pay the remaining proceeds to you

9. RETIREMENT BENEFITS

9.1 Withdrawal Before Retirement

You may retire from any date after you reach the age of 55. You will need to advise the Fund by completing a Retirement Notification form.

Early retirement (before the age of 55) can only be taken in the case of your permanent disability, due to injury or illness. The Trustees are required to approve your application for early retirement based on medical evidence obtained at your cost.

9.2 Retirement Benefit Options

The benefit is determined by the market value of the investment portfolios held by the member, less fees and charges, on the date of retirement.

Retirement benefit options are:

- The etfSA Retirement Fund Trustees will provide an annuity to members on retirement. Alternatively, the member can request the Administrator to transfer the benefits on retirement to another annuity provider.
- The full benefit may be used to purchase an Annuity in your name.
- A maximum of one-third of the benefit can be taken in cash. The cash portion may be reduced by any tax that is payable as determined by South African Revenue Services.

- The remaining two-thirds will be used to provide an Annuity in your name.
- The full benefit may only be taken as a cash sum if equal to or not more than R75 000 on the date of retirement. This amount can change as determined by legislation or the regulatory authorities from time to time.

9.3 The Administration Process

After receiving notification of your retirement, the Trustees will:

- Switch your portfolios into cash
- Apply for a tax directive with South African Revenue Services, if applicable.
- Implement the tax directive
- Pay you and/or the provider of the Annuity

10. HANDLING OF DEATH BENEFITS

10.1 Notification of Death

The Administrator must be advised of your death in writing. The notification should include:

- The name and identity number of the deceased
- A certified copy of death certificate
- The etfSA Retirement Fund member account number

10.2 Determination of Death Benefits

In the event of a member's death, the Trustees will apply Section 37(c) of the Pension Fund Act. This gives the Trustees full discretion concerning who would receive the death benefits.

The nominated Beneficiaries would not automatically receive the benefits, as the Act gives dependants preference. If you have dependants and you have nominated beneficiaries who are not dependents, the Trustees will use their discretion to decide who will receive the benefits.

If the member does not have any dependants, and has not nominated any beneficiaries, the death benefit will be paid to the member's estate.

10.3 Payment of Death Benefits

Once the Trustees have determined who receives the death benefit and the proportion to be paid, the beneficiaries can exercise the following options:

- Purchase a compulsory annuity.
 - Receive a cash sum.
 - Elect a combination of cash and an annuity.
- Transfer to retirement annuity in the name of the beneficiary

10.4 The Administration Process

Following the Trustees' decision on the distribution of death benefits, the Fund will:

- Apply for a tax directive from South Africa Revenue Services, if any dependants or beneficiaries receive cash benefits.
- Follow the instructions of the tax directive.
- Pay the dependant/s and/or beneficiaries and/or the provider of the annuity
- The Administrator and/or the Trustees can levy a fee, should the establishment of death benefits generate substantial costs.
