Based on period from:	01/04/2021
Total Expense	0.29%
Transaction Costs	0.01%
Total Investment Charge	0.30%
1 Year Total Expense	0.29%

Total Expense (TER): This ratio shows the charges, levies and fees relating to the management of the portfolio and is expressed as a percentage of the average net asset value of the portfolio, calculated over the period shown and annualised to the most recently completed quarter. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER should not be regarded as an indication of future TERs.

Transaction Costs (TC): This ratio shows the percentage of the value of the fund incurred as costs relating to the buying and selling of the fund's underlying assets. TC are a necessary cost in administering the fund and impacts fund returns. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of fund, investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER.

Total Investment Charges (TIC): This ratio is simply the sum of the TER and TC, showing the percentage of the value of the fund incurred as costs relating to the investment of the fund. It should be noted that performance figures account for all costs included in the TIC ratio, so you should not deduct the TIC from performance figures, the performance is already net of the TIC.

Commentary

Fund review

The fund performed in line with its benchmark over Q2 2024. The last FTSE/JSE Index review saw no deletions or addition to the index for the quarter. Emira Property Fund Ltd, Growthpoint Properties Ltd and Hyprop Investments Ltd were the top performers with Emira Property Fund Ltd returning 19.01% over the quarter. Sirius Real Estate Ltd, Burstone Group Limited and MAS P.L.C. detracted from fund performance with Sirius Real Estate Ltd returning -7.18% over the quarter.

Market overview

For most of the year, inflation remained sticky with above-target prints. The likelihood of the anticipated soft-landing scenario gained more traction as key economic indicators signaled a vibrant US economy. Elevated flat rates persisted in the US, while the Chinese market worked towards bringing the property crisis under control. Overall, a few tailwinds pushed equity markets higher. In the second quarter, the MSCI World Index rose by 2.6% whilst MSCI EM by 4.1%.

Locally, political uncertainty dominated ahead of a much-anticipated National Election. For the first time in the nation's democratic history, the ANC lost the majority vote and was forced to seek allies to govern. This brought renewed optimism that an integrated government would lead to better governance and accountability, lifting overall confidence towards the local economy. Furthermore, SA celebrated 100 days of load shedding-free days, which was positive for economic activity. In the quarter, domestic equity markets gained notably, with the Top 40 Index returning 7.94%, the All-Share 8.19% and the Capped SWIX 8.21%. In fixed income and currency markets, the All-Bond Index gained 7.49%, the STeFI returned 2.09%, while the rand strengthened by 3.95% against the dollar.

Looking ahead

At the beginning of 2024, the key theme in the US was a soft landing for the economy and multiple rate-cut expectation being priced over the course of the year. Well into 2024, the narrative has drastically changed into a "no-landing". Particularly, inflation remains sticky with the most recent print for May coming at 3.3%, well above the US Federal Reserve's 2% target whilst corporate earnings were on average, positively received. A buoyant labour market is also a key factor with above-trend growth in jobs, coupled with a vibrant economy where corporate earnings are expected to grow at double-digits. Going into Q3, a shift in monetary policy is unlikely and the flat-rate cycle can be expected to feature for the remainder of the year. Acute political risks remain, owing to the looming 2024 US presidential election in November. This heightened uncertainty will test the resilience of equity markets. From a broader Emerging Markets view, the housing market crisis in China is moderating owing to the short-term effectiveness of policy decisions that are being channeled towards the stabilisation of the market and a potential uplift of the overall economy. Subsequently, the Chinese stock market has benefited and can be expected to continue benefiting in Q3.

Locally, renewed optimism about political developments can be expected to boost business confidence and attract foreign investment. Furthermore, the improvement in electricity supply will support economic activity. This can be expected to lower company overheads and boost production output. Economic data already indicates an improvement in activity, with the Absa Manufacturing PMI rising from 43.8 points in May to 45.7 in June. Unfortunately, this is likely to filter through to higher inflation numbers and keep rates elevated in Q3, although mild cooling was evident in the first half, when inflation moderated from 5.6% in February to 5.2% in April and remained constant in May. Finally, SA is not yet out of the political woods. The failure of the ANC and DA to conclude a coalition agreement in Gauteng, raises uncertainty about the two parties' ability to honour their national agreement.
