Index Tracking Unit Trust

February 2025

HIGHLIGHTS

The summary of the top performing index tracking and actively traded portfolios for the period ended 28 February 2025, indicates that foreign referenced products, tracking equity, commodity or specialised high-tech indices are still the top performers, over the past 10 years and periods in between.

A key feature for periods of one year or less, has been the top performance by ETFs tracking the Chinese market. Albeit from a low base, the Satrix MSCI China ETF (STXCHN) has grown by 33,83% for 12 months, 36,91% for 6 months and 19,02% over the past 3 months. The Sygnia Itrix China Feeder ETF (SYGCN) has realised much the same returns, for this period.

There are still some concerns about the management of the Chinese economy and about the consistent interference by the Chinese Government in some larger Chinese companies. However, the 5% real growth target for the coming year has been set and, despite numerous problems, the Chinese economy did achieve similar growth rates in 2024. There is still some scope for further economic stimulation and the progress of the Chinese market will probably be a key factor in global market returns for the coming year.

Looking deeper into the overall results of the Survey, the total investment returns of local referenced equity indices have by and large outperformed global equity markets over the past year. The JSE All Share Index has grown by 23,45% over the 12 months to February 2025. By contrast, the World Index (in rands), grew by only 10,83% over the same period. The S&P Index did only marginally better, growing by 14% on a year-on-year basis (in rands).

The table below compares some top performing local and global equity EFs that track the major indices, for the past year.

Local Main Index Equity Trackers		Foreign Main Index Equity Trackers
(% Return*)
10X Wealth Top 20 ETF	25,40	Sygnia Itrix MSCI China Feeder ETF	33,83%
Satrix Capped INDI ETF	24,28	Sygnia Itrix Emerging Markets 50 ETF	22,33%
Satrix 40 ETF	23,20	Invest S&P 500 Feeder	15,00%
Satrix FINI 15 ETF	23,84	Reitway Global Property ETF	13,54%
Satrix SA Property ETF	22,95
* February 2024 – February 2025.

This small sample above indicates that local referenced ETPs are again providing competitive returns. The good value offered by local equities relative to global equities might also be a contributing factor. Growing trading volumes and rising new issues of ETPs tracking the main local indices, also point to a revival of interest amongst investors for local index trackers.
